Making Music and Memories

Music therapy is incredibly beneficial for seniors in many different ways. According to the Alzheimer's Foundation of America, playing familiar music and participating in music therapy can "shift mood, manage stress-induced agitation, stimulate positive interactions, facilitate cognitive function, and coordinate motor movements." Ms. Janet comes and leads music therapy session with residents regularly. Participants thoroughly enjoy playing the instruments, singing along, and bonding with one another through song!

Parachute Group

Everything is more fun in a group – including exercise! Residents recently enjoyed participating in the parachute exercise where they are challenged to keep the beach ball from falling off the parachute. This activity improves strength, endurance, and flexibility, while providing many laughs and much entertainment!

Fun in the Late Summer Sun

It's summertime, and the living is easy. What better way to soak up the last bit of summer than with a backyard BBQ and pool party? Pelican Pointe residents did just that recently by enjoying some delicious BBQ, blowing bubbles, shooting water guns, wearing fun hats, and laughing and joking with one another. We had a blast!
